

LGBTQIA2+ Parenting Support Group

Parenting can be isolating and confusing, even in the simplest circumstances. Parenting a child who is exploring their gender or sexuality can evoke these feelings even further, perpetuating disconnection and a lack of support.

Let us try and break this cycle together. It is clear that above all else, connection to other families who have a shared experience is a vital resource.

Come join us where we will discuss all things gender and sexuality. Each meeting will have a topic of discussion, followed by open time to connect with other families. Occasionally we will be inviting speakers from our community to come and share their expertise so we can remain informed and supportive to our young people.
